“We have found again and again that Aries are not only a security company, but a complete site support service.

Aries Security Services has been our security company on the Nar Ouse Regeneration Area Project for the last four years. It is the ongoing redevelopment of a brown field site in excess of 100 acres of which Morston own approximately half. Over the four years their role has changed to reflect the requirements of the progressing development. At first, when there was little site activity, they monitored the site and its derelict buildings for intruders, signs of travellers, youths, etc. Through their proactive approach they have ensured that we have had no unauthorised camp sites etc and any issues that have arisen have been dealt with before becoming a costly problem. As the site became more active Aries were employed to liaise with the road engineering company to ensure that our landholding was not put at risk and were given a watching brief to alert us to any issues which may have arisen.

Aries have also been employed by our own contractors (remediation/ground works contractor, site clearance contractor, house building contractor) to ensure the security of the individual projects. Dennis and his team throughout their involvement have acted and continue to act in a professional manner keeping us informed on a regular basis and advising on suitable preventative measures to avoid any potential issues.”

“I am pleased to recommend Aries Services, and write to confirm that we have used them on several occasions and have always been very pleased with the services they have provided.

We have found them to be professional and accommodating when providing security for projects, especially when the sites have been out of the way and off the beaten track.”

“Through the close co-operation with Aries Security Services we’ve managed to greatly reduce, almost eliminating, our unsecured losses on a complex project within a large site and with ever changing activities. The commitment and attention to the detail of our needs has added value to the service we provided our client. With Aries securing the premises and plant, we were confident it would still be there in the morning. This peace of mind certainly made us sleep easy at night.”

“During our recent contract in England overseeing the building of Palm Paper in Kings Lynn, Norfolk we contracted Aries Services who were able to provide a comprehensive Construction Site Support Service, to undertake not only the security of the site but also a number of tasks involved in supporting a project which became the 2nd biggest in the country alongside the Olympic Stadium.

One of the biggest assets for us was the trust that we could put into Aries Services for completing the tasks given on time, and more so with the least amount of trouble. By employing Aries Services Construction Site Support Services we only had to make the one phone call and have access to a wide range of services, thus enabling us more time to concentrate on our own tasks.

Aries Services worked alongside our own staff day and night to help keep the project on schedule, their work was always completed as per our instructions and standard. We found that they were very efficient in the way they conducted their business with supervisors and also Mr Underwood himself taking an active part in the day to day supervision of the tasks given to them, we would strongly recommend having Aries on board with any project you are undertaking.”

“I’ve used Aries Services for four years on various construction sites across East Anglia. On every occasion I’ve been impressed with the professional service we’ve received. The guards have always been prompt and have dealt with any issues in a polite and efficient manner. On each site they have developed a good relationship with the site team and the local police which has enabled security arrangements to be monitored and improved through the duration of the works. We have found over and over again that taking an overall view of how Aries works they are not only a security company, but a complete site support service, their out of hours support and supervision give good value for money at all times.”
